information referral
and clinical service

The ACP offers a telephone service for members of the public wanting to know more about psychoanalysis or wishing to undertake psychoanalytic treatment.

Please ring 0408 225 993 regarding the following:

- Assessment and treatment
- Supervision and secondary consultation
- Training and professional development

ASSESSMENT AND TREATMENT

Referrals of children, adolescents and adults to the Centre's practising psychoanalysts are welcome.

The Centre has a firm commitment to the principle of inclusion. Limited ability to pay will not preclude individuals from being offered treatment.

Fees are not set by the Centre: they will be negotiated directly between analyst and patient.

If you anticipate difficulty with payment or are only wanting an initial interview, please mention this at the time of calling, so a referral can be made to a suitable vacancy within our accessible psychoanalysis initiative. There may be a limit to the number of places in this program, but every attempt will be made to accommodate specific needs.

SUPERVISION AND SECONDARY CONSULTATIONS

As well as providing referrals to practising psychoanalysts, the service can refer individual practitioners and groups in the mental health sector to supervision and consultation services.

TRAINING AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

The ACP:

- Regularly holds seminars, conferences and workshops
- Publishes a journal Analysis
- Conducts training in psychoanalysis
- Operates a register of Practising Analysts
- Co-operates with similar organisations throughout the world

The ACP is a not for profit association dedicated to the practice, study and teaching of psychoanalysis, the training of analysts and research within the field established by Sigmund Freud and extended by Jacques Lacan.

Anyone with an interest in the study of psychoanalysis may participate in the Centre's activities.

Practising psychoanalysts of the Centre have undergone rigorous study, supervision and personal psychoanalysis.

Members of the Centre subscribe to its Constitution and Code of Professional Conduct.

The ACP is a member association of the Psychotherapy and Counselling Federation of Australia (PACFA).
